We provide support to both small and large enterprises, understanding that each category of clients has its own specific requirements for the execution of equipment supply contracts.

The supply agreement is a standard procedure for purchasing equipment. Within this framework, we detail the conditions for the transfer of property and the delivery procedure. At the same time, we strive to ensure the most comfortable cooperation by developing individual schemes that meet the customer's needs. Once the purchase is completed, you can use our company's transportation services for equipment or contact third-party logistics organizations.

All of our products are accompanied by an official manufacturer's warranty. We guarantee that all complaints will be addressed in a timely manner and resolved in accordance with the manufacturer's guidelines.

We provide an official warranty for the entire range of services we offer:

- commissioning;
- repair;
- diagnostics;
- service support.

Regular maintenance of equipment is a key factor in ensuring its smooth operation and compliance with its stated characteristics. This procedure helps to prevent costly repairs and production downtime.

We highly value our customers' time and guarantee timely completion of installation and commissioning works in accordance with the terms of the contract.

Upon completion of the commissioning works, we provide detailed instructions on the equipment's operation. Our engineers are always available to promptly address any service-related issues.
